FROM THE MINISTER

Australia's beef industry has a long and proud history of delivering a world class product at home and overseas. For generations the beef industry has supported regional economies and communities while playing a crucial role in Australia's broader agriculture industry. As one of our largest agricultural exports, the continued strength of the beef industry is critical to achieving the agriculture industry's goal of reaching $100 billion by 2030.

The Government proudly supports the Australian beef industry. We are delivering on this commitment by making critical investments in our biosecurity systems, supporting vital research on climate and sustainability, and improving our relationships with key trading partners.

Amid changing global market conditions and current biosecurity threats, ensuring our biosecurity systems are strong is a shared responsibility. It relies on support from industry, environmental groups, First Nations Australians, research organisations, government and the community. The Government remains committed to working with industry and the Australian community so that our biosecurity systems are resilient and strong.

Strengthening our national biosecurity system will shield our beef industry, people, environment and economy from biosecurity threats, and is a shared responsibility that we all play a part in.

Nationally, despite significant challenges of drought, floods, bushfire, and a pandemic, the beef industry remains strong. It is one of the largest employers in the Northern Rivers region across the whole supply chain including growing, transport, processing and production.

We know that behind every industry is a hardworking, committed community. The government is a major sponsor of Casino Beef Week, which for more than 40 years has put a spotlight on the beef industry, brought the community together, supported local businesses and attracted visitors from far and wide. It's a wonderful outing for the whole family, and I hope you enjoy all it has to offer.

Senator the Hon Murray Watt
Minister for Agriculture, Fisheries and Forestry
